

Date: June 29, 2020

Action Taken: Under section 36 of the Health Professions Act, Dr. Daniel Sullins entered into a Consent Agreement. In the Consent Agreement, Dr. Sullins acknowledged

- advertising treatment of conditions for which there was not acceptable evidence of efficacy contrary to the College's Efficacy Claims Policy,
- advertising treatment of conditions that are not within the scope of practice for chiropractors in BC,
- failing to practice within the scope of practice for chiropractors in BC,
- failing to maintain records in accordance with College standards,
- failing to cooperate with a College inspection,
- advertising using a group coupon, and
- practicing when you were suspended under s. 35 of the HPA.

After being suspended under s. 35 of the HPA between June 18, 2019 and March 3, 2020 and then having terms on his practice since, Dr. Sullins has consented to a reprimand and payment of a fine of $200 and costs totaling $4,000, and has entered into undertakings to continue with measures for the monitoring of his practice for the remainder of the four month period previously agreed to, and for as long as he remains a registrant, to practice within the scope of practice, maintain the required records and cease all marketing by way of group coupon.
